The Foreign Investment Committee (CIEChile) is organizing the International Investment Forum Chile 2014 which will take place on 13-16 January. This is the first such event to be held in Chile and seeks to bring together overseas companies interested in the country with local businesspeople and business opportunities across different sectors of the economy.

“The idea is for foreign investors to be able to learn at first hand about the opportunities our country offers,” explained the executive vice-president of CIEChile, Matías Mori. “In this sense, the participation of Chilean companies is very valuable, along with the chance for overseas companies to see on the ground how things work in Chile and to talk with public and private organizations so as to take a better decision,” he added.

Activities in Santiago and Regions

The Forum will comprise activities in Santiago, Puerto Varas and Calama and envisages multi-sector seminars, field visits and over 600 business matchmaking meetings between local and overseas companies.

“Chile is a country with unique geographic characteristics and that is also reflected in the investment opportunities it offers which, moreover, occur in the framework of Latin America's best business climate,” pointed out Mori.

It is important to note that Chile, with a business environment which is regularly highlighted by international rankings, received a record US$30,323 million in foreign direct investment (FDI) in 2012, positioning it as the world's 11th largest recipient country.

Registration

Overseas companies and businesspeople interested in attending the Forum can register using the form available on www.chileinvestmentforum.cl through to October 15.
